The Day.

The glorious Fourth of July will be celebrated throughout this great Republic by a devoted people in almost every conceivable national manner that patriotism may dictate—civil and military processions, badges and banners, instrumental music, vociferous cheering of millions of voices, and booming cannon will usher in and close the natal day of the nation's independence. Orations, addresses, sermons, thanksgivings and the invocation of blessings from the same God that directed the wisdom of the sages and patriots of '76, and the destinies of the nation to the one hundred and second year of its existence. A great and powerful nation of forty-five millions of freemen in the gladness of Christian hearts send up their offering in a nation's alter as a sweet-sounding savor, the fruits of freedom's labor. In the short space that elapsed since the declaration of independence, science has spread her lighted rays, and for five thousand miles from sea to sea, conveyance by steam is established, and the lightning courses the wire with instantaneous intelligence, fields of ripened grain upon the plains where savage men and beasts roamed are cultivated, cut and gathered by machinery of scientific invention, to feed the millions at home and millions abroad. England, whose crops have failed, sends greeting to her ancient colonies, now her rival in national greatness, "Send us bread," and America answers with ships laden.

Meat and bread are now furnished in immense quantities to mother England, whose efforts were put forth to strangle us in infancy. What a comment on the wisdom of boosted intellect and the royal pride that taxed me on tea. We will yet choke and feed, and be the main stay of our venerable ancestor in her declining days, and furnish homes for her destitute subjects. "Hail Columbia, happy land."

Truly Said.

One of our exchanges says: "It is evident that the western part of Kentucky will have the candidate for Governor." We are very sure he has hit the nail on the head, and if he had continued and said, that man will be the Hon. E. Dudley Walker, of Ohio county, he would have spoken two solid facts together, and evidenced to our mind that the editor had sagacity enough to see the result and independence to proclaim it. We observe some of the candidates are aiming to reap advantages from an isolated measure, as though the broad Democracy did not cover all the real wants and necessary measures, to the good of the people and the true interest of the nation. The true Jeffersonian Democracy expounded by our gallant leaders and expressed in the platforms of the various States, meets the approval of one talented Walker, who will be warmly supported by the economy of the western counties. Other portions of the State can look up the Lieutenant Governor. We intend to supply you with the Governor.

Here We Are.

Our Republican, Greenback and Democratic citizens will meet together on the fourth and enjoy the good old time inspiration drawn from the patriotic words and manly acts of our forefathers. Hartford proposes a picnic, and her Sunday-schools with adjoining schools, will celebrate the day in a pleasant and becoming manner. Evansville, Ind., has invited the distinguished Southern general, Gordon to address them. We suppose General Shuckfield, the soldier in blue, will greet the soldier of the grey, and rejoice together in the pleasant ways of peace. Louisville calls the pride of Kentucky; in a great champion race with the Gold State of California. Ten Broek, who has made the best time on record, with Mollie McCarthy, who has never been beaten. A gale day, with the fashion of the States to look on a race unequalled in America. Many a bright fellow will feel the bottom of an empty pocket, and sigh for the full purse he had in the morning. No more jollips, a slim supper and a sturdy landlord. In a good fix toing, "Carry me back."

The Democratic Convention for Henderson county, to select delegates to the Congressional Convention, has been called to meet on the 20th inst.

Col. John H. McHenry.

We to-day announce Col. John H. McHenry, of Owensboro, a candidate to represent this District in the next Congress of the United States, subject to the action of a Democratic convention. No cleverer man ever lived than Col. McHenry. He made a most gallant soldier during the late war, is a man of intelligence, and if elected will make a good and faithful representative. Owing to his announcement getting here so late we can say no more at present. Will speak of him in our next issue.—[Henderson Reporter.]

Texas Letter.

SPANISH FORT, MONTGOMERY COUNTY, TEXAS, June 29, 1878.

Editor Herald:

Some time since I took the liberty to send you a short letter which you were kind enough to publish, and also to send me a copy of the HERALD, which was gladly received. Seeing the familiar face of the HERALD made me feel as though I was at home in Kentucky instead of on the frontier in Texas.

As you was kind enough to publish my first letter, I take the liberty to send you another, concerning as the talented Madoc put it, "crops and things." Crops in this section are fine especially the corn crop. The early part of the season was rather too dry, but we are having plenty of rain now, and every thing looks promising. The wheat crop is all harvested, and a large portion of it is threshed. It is said to average about twenty bushels per acre. To a Kentuckian there is something novel about harvesting in Texas. The work is all done by machinery. To see a harvester running, and two men riding on it and binding, would be rather a strange sight in Ohio county, and to see one cutting and binding too, faster than four ordinary men, would be still more strange. The crops are pretty well all laid by now, and most of the farmers will have nothing to do until gathering time. There is no tobacco to worm and sucker, no briars to cut, no fence corners to clean out, and no barns to build or repair. Most of work that will be done from now until September will be gathering beef cattle, marking and branding yearlings, &c. Our District Court is just over. Sent five new representatives to the General Assembly, at Huntsville. There were twenty other candidates, and we fear that they would not declare themselves candidates at the next regular election, they were all sent to the County Hotel for safe keeping. Our county was visited last week by the original owners of the county. A party of seven Indian chiefs made their appearance in full Indian costume at Red River Station, ten miles above here. They were friendly Indians, belonging to the Pawnee tribe, and were traveling under a pass-port. One of the number could speak English, and said he had attended school in Iowa. The Indians and buffalo, both at once, reminded the settlers of the days not very far gone, when the Indians and buffalo were almost the possessors of this country.

On the 24th of this month there is to be at this place a grand barbecue where the fat of the land will be served up in style. At night there will be a grand hop at the hall. The hall is the only public building our town affords, and is used for various purposes, such as a church-house, school-house, and Old Fellow's and Grangers' hall, dancing hall, &c. It sometimes occurs that there is an appointment to dance and preach in the house at the same time. In such a case the majority rules, which is generally the dancing crowd. They have a way of getting rid of troublesome characters in this country, which works like a charm. They just get up a crowd and go and give him a serenade; the instruments they use are revolvers, Winchester rifles, shot guns, &c. The person harassed seldom needs a second warning. He generally makes it convenient to move to some other part.

Col. Howgate is hopeful that he will appropriate $50,000 for his Polar colonization scheme will be passed by both houses of Congress early in the next session. Owing to the failure of the bill at the last session, Captain Tyson's expedition, which left last week to secure guano, etc., for the main expedition, will return this fall. It is said by Arctic navigators that this is the most favorable season ever known for Polar exploration, on account of the general break-up of the ice, and the great area of open water.

For fear I intrude on your space I will close, with my respects to my friends and acquaintances in Kentucky and kindest wishes for yourself and paper, I remain yours,

TEXAS JACK.

McHENRY, Ky., June 28, 1878.

Trusting to past favors, I intrude again in the columns of your respected paper.

The banks run generally about five days in a week now, consequently loss of all kinds is good—the mines being able to buy the produce of the farmers renders the farming business near here tolerably profitable comparatively speaking.

Two men (Kelley and Henry) not agreeing in their views, very readily settled their difference of opinion by engaging in the time-honored pastime of fist and skull. Kelley administered three powerful arguments with his fist on the seat of Henry's intellect. This seeming to satisfy Henry, the argument came to a close with small cost to Kelley and considerable cost to Henry.

Farmers generally are busy finishing plowing corn crops and stacking what. Soon the hum and roar of the threshers will be heard in the county. No cleverer man ever lived than Col. McHenry. He made a most gallant soldier during the late war, is a man of intelligence, and if elected will make a good and faithful representative.

Owing to his announcement getting here so late we can say no more at present. Will speak of him in our next issue.—[Henderson Reporter.]

SELL-BELANCE.

The Scientific American has the following sensible remarks on this subject: Self-reliance, co-jointed with promptitude in the execution of our undertaking, is indispensable to success. And yet, in the course of life, we often meet with men who, though they have a strong desire to do well, are not possessed of the energy and determination to do so. Such persons need to be assured, but this assurance can be obtained in no other way than by their own success in whatever they may attempt for themselves. If they lean upon others, they are only less successful with whom they are, but the success of one achievement, in which they are entitled to but partial credit, is no guarantee to them that, unaided, they will fail in their very next experiment. For want of self-reliance and decision of character, thousands are submerged in their first essays to make the voyage of life. Disappointed and disgraced at this, they become hopeless, and are easily led into idleness, sloth, and thorniness, solving no other problem than how to pass away the time.

Young men renounce from henceforth your evil habits, which can but produce misery and remorse at last, come and give us your assistance to advance the cause of education and morality, rather than retard it, for by its advancement alone can we expect to attain a better and nobler man and womanhood. I am yours, AMASSAGGANAN.

Debtors Society.

Editor Herald:

At a meeting of some of the young men of Hartford, on Wednesday night, June 26th, a society was organized for the purpose of cultivating and developing the powers of the mind, by mutually receiving and imparting what information each one could upon the subjects selected by the society for discussion. The Masonic Hall was selected as the place of meeting, and Saturday night in each week the time. A public debate was appointed for the following Saturday night. The evening passed pleasantly and harmoniously, and for the success of our debate we return to the ladies and gentlemen who honored us with their presence. ## THE HERALD.

WORLDLY WAIFS.

Will is more than wist.
Ennui is the ghost of murdered time.
It is easier to see small faults than large virtues.
He is rich who is poor enough to be generous.

Love is an extreme—to love less is to love no more.

If laughter is the daylight of the soul,
a smile is its twilight.

Anger always hurts us more than the one we get mad at.

A wise man's thoughts walk within him, but a fool's without.

Let us search ourselves in the first place, and afterwards the world.

A man displeased with the world is never satisfied with himself.

Be severe to yourself, indulgent to others; and thus avoid resentment.

The wise and prudent conquer difficulties by daring to attempt them.

Nothing can constitute good breeding that has not made nature fit its foundation.

Anything we can love and reverence becomes, as it were, the Sabbath for the mind.

Few men have a life plan, although many a week, year, youth, or business plan.

Kodesty in your discourse will give a luster to truth, and an excuse to your error.

The hardest trial of the heart is to ut-tempt to bear a rival's failure without weak triumph.

The most effectual way to secure happiness, is to confer it upon others.

Everybody seems to think himself a moral half bushel to measure the world's trifles.

Society is a masked ball, where every one hides his real character, and reveals it by hiding.

Minds of only moderate calibre ordinarily condemn everything that is beyond their range.

He who thinks too much of himself will be in danger of being forgotten by the rest of the world.

Sir George Beck, the distinguished Arctic navigator, is dead.

A submarine diver named Guine proposes to walk from Madison to Cairo under water for $10,000.

The New Era has "biten off more than it can chew." It is trying to copy everything said about the P. C.

The Mayville Eagle advises farmers of that county to sell their wheat soon as it is ready for market. It says the price will probably not be more than eighty cents immediately after harvest, but it will be lower in September.

The Mayville Eagle notes the circumstance that young ladies of Mayville, and that vicinity, have been poisoned by wearing cardinal stockings.

Mexican dollars have declined until they are now only taken by the banks at 99 cents.
The poor laboring classes feel the depreciation very sensibly. The real value of a Mexican dollar is 99 cents. It is an imposition to rate it at 90 cents.

The geological tramp from Columbus to Pound Gap began last week. The party will be under the direction of Prof.
Shaler, and composed of a professor and eight students from Harvard, and six students from Kentucky. The journey will be completed about the first of September.

The Gubernatorial calendar is beginning to simmer. A few dry sagoons have been thrown under it, and the flames are gathering and the sparks flying. About the first of August it will be at the boiling stage, and we will be better able to judge what will come of the cooking.

A Bismarck special announces the discovery of rich gold fields in Bearpaw Mountain, Montana, and great excitement at Fort Benton.

A big Yankee from Maine on paying his bill in a London restaurant, was told that the sum paid down did not include the water. "Wal," he roared, "I didn't eat any water, did I?" He looked as though he could though, and there was no further discussion.

It has been said of Mr. Bryant that he was a parsonious minn. A remark he made to a young writer, nine years ago, deserves to be remembered: "One of the first objects of a literary man should be to acquire an independence; his genius never does its best so long as it is the mere drudge of its necessities."

A pretty schoolmistress in Malden, Mass., kept a boy fifteen minutes after school as a punishment, and when the time was up he asked her if she couldn't make it half an hour.

"I told her I'd never smoke another cigar," he said softly, "and I won't. A pique's plenty good enough for me."

To the american boy there is an awful, a majestic difference in weight between the butt-end of a fiddle pole and a hoe handle.

The woman who uses face powders and paints, foolishly believes that she is only in the secret. So with the habitual liar.
He imagines everybody believes his stories, when in fact the truth is not believed when he utters it.

A newly married gentleman on being asked the other day, "What was the difference between a bride and a bridegroom?" immediately replied, "Why, one is given away and the other is sold."

Italy will next year celebrate the sixteen-hundredth anniversary of the destruction of Pompeii and Herculaneum. That's a centennial for you.

An Arab is always polite. Even when he cuts a throat he remarks: "Sorry, my friend, that your neck isn't a trifle longer."
